ENTERTAINMENT BOOKS ARE ON THE SELL!

Put your thinking cap on early this year because we are getting the Entertainment books for 2005 earlier and earlier. They are on sale at our luncheons or on an every day basis at the “Y”, Passport Travel, Fabrictown and the Chronicle office. They are still $20 of which $5 goes to our club on each sale. President Pete has graciously consented to handle the books this year since Paul Slovin has gone inactive. Any questions see Pete.

TALK OF MYRTLE BEACH

There is some talk about putting together a spring outing for golf in Myrtle Beach. It is the golf capital of America with hundreds of courses and moderate prices for both the plane fares and the golf and the hotels. Don Washburn raised the possibility and your editor gave his support, so if you are interested at all say something to Don or me. The trip will probably run for four or five days from the middle of the week to the weekend. We are talking sometime in March or April. There is also a brochure available outlay the different packages and hotels.

AUSTIN PREP DEFENSIVE BACK

Jay Dowd's son, Phillip is on the Austin Prep football team and is playing defensive halfback. He was also in competition for the starting quarterback's position but was edged out for the starting spot. The team according to Jay is doing very well and two weeks ago they even beat division one Malden High decisively. Phil is a senior.

LITTLE JOHNNY DOUGLASS

While going through some old photos at the Chronicle I came across a “Round Reading” drawing by artist Fred Peters of the Douglass family. At the time young John was one year old and his siblings Martin was 6, Christina was 5, and Melissa was 3. John's parents, John Sr and Judi had moved to Reading in the early 1960's and John Junior has been here ever since. It is a nicely done piece, so if you get a chance take a look at the front table.
